Insulated, All Natural and full of Character

Welcome to Gryphon Doors.

We make doors that are insulated, made from natural materials, really durable and look like something you want to see and touch everyday. Something that is unique and has character.

They are thick, extra warm, safe, and super tight. This door is an essential element of your passive house or high performing building project.

Because of the way we put our doors together, they will last a lifetime, but can biodegrade at the end of their lifetime leaving barely a trace.

We made sure that our doors look good as well. These doors will be a legacy to be passed on thru generations. Hand made in Vermont by skilled craftsfolk.

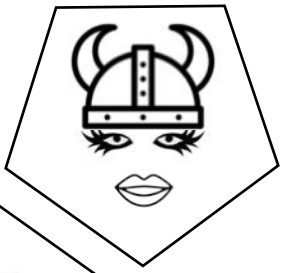
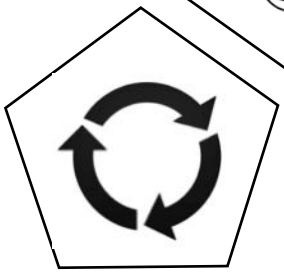
CHARACTER

Being made from natural materials means every door is different and unique. We love how every one comes with its own character. We like to think that as your door ages with you, it will develop good character.We encourage it and welcome you to design your own door.



IMPACT

Part of our mission is to make a door within a regenerative process. We aim to create and make while taking as little as possible. When we design, we think of the larger circles of connection and long term effects. We also think about the entire life cycle of our doors. Gryphon Doors thinks of a door as a life time member of a structure.



CRAFT

Our doors are made by people. They are also made from nature. We like to work with nature. Tools and machines are used with great respect and care. Craft is a way of life.
